"Let's All Go To the Movies" A History of the Circle Drive-In by Joseph Klapatch

Spring is here and in years past, that would signal the opening and popularity of the "Drive-In". Beginning in 1948 and continuing through today, at least a half dozen drive-in movie theatres were found in Lackawanna County. The first was the Ideal Drive In located at Newton Lake, in the area of Greenfield Township.

This theatre was located near Newton Lake Amusement park and was situated across the street from Geroulo's drive-in restaurant.

Also in 1948, the Comerford Drive-In opened in Dupont in Luzerne County and catered to Lackawanna County residents. The Comerford advertised two entrances for those who were from the Wilkes-Barre area as well as two entrances for those people coming from Scranton and Lackawanna County.

Other theatres that were opened in the late 1940's and early 1950's included the Triangle Drive-In in Daleville, the Oak Hill Drive-In located in Moosic and the Mid Valley Drive-In located in Eynon. Unfortunately, only one drive-in theatre exists today in Lackawanna County, the Circle Drive-In in Dickson City.

Area newspapers announced plans to build a new drive-in movie theatre about 1-1/2 miles north of the North Scranton traffic circle on March 10, 1949. The announcement was made by L.A. Farrell, president of the Carbondale Theater Company, which was affiliated with Comerford Theatres, Inc. Farrell made another announcement on May 13th of that same year that a second drive-in would be built in an undisclosed location, but also along the new Scranton-Carbondale Highway. This would later become the Mid Valley Drive-In. Both theatres would accommodate 1,000 cars. Entrances and exits would be set up on each side of the drive-ins and the leveled land would be done by the Tolerico Excavating Co. of Simp-

Construction continued, but on June 21st, a group of Dickson City housewives brought that work to a halt. Constantine Tolerico, who was in charge of the construction, had his slate carrying trucks taking a shortcut over Dimmick Street to the Johnson Dump. For the weeks preceding,

A Word from the President...

Hello Everyone,,

If you have been in or near the Catlin House in recent months, you may have heard an audible and sustained sigh coming from within. Do not be alarmed, there is no problem. It is a response to the volume of planning, work, requests and new initiatives that have taken place since the holidays. So many things have been accomplished this winter into spring period that it is dizzying. Just ask the staff and office volunteers, they will tell you about it all and they are a pretty dizzy group! (Sorry, 9 couldn't help it.) 9 am not going to review, but 9 do want to point out one big effort on the part of the LHS. Our organization was a big part of the recently completed 150th anniversary celebration in the City of Scranton. We can all be proud of time and effort that the Historical Society contributed to this community-wide activity that ran from April 25, 2015 to April 23, 2016. It was a great opportunity for us to focus on our mission.

It was recently said that we are going to take a rest from activity for awhile, but you will see as you read on in this issue of the newsletter that is not the case at all. In reality, that isn't what we would want to happen, I'm glad!

In addition to what is listed in the newsletter, we are also planning to dedicate a PA historical marker in honor of the late Governor Scranton in the fall and have begun work on a local history curriculum guide for the Scranton School District in partnership with the Albright Library with funding from the Scranton Area Foundation!

On a final note, 9 want to bring to your attention that we are in the final stage of our capital campaign project. Efforts to reach our goal have been consistently reported on in previous issues as well as this current one. The work being done at our headquarters is 95 percent completed. Our challenge now is to reach our fundraising goal. If you haven't as yet made a pledge or a contribution, please consider doing so before August. Thanks to those of you that have contributed already. Perhaps, you will consider adding to your campaign donation in whatever amount is comfortable for you. No amount of assistance in this project is unimportant, too little or unappreciated.

Thanks for your attention. Enjoy the springtime, be well and stay involved.

Respectfully, Michael Gilmartin

In the Catlin House...

THANK YOU!!

We'd like to thank our special guest Tammy Budnovitch, who hosted a pysanky-egg making workshop at the Catlin House in March. We had a sellout crowd, and everyone went away happy with a new decoration and some new skills. We hope to host the workshop again next year, so stay tuned! Thanks again to Tammy for helping keep this tradition alive!

We would also like to thank John and Jennifer Ochman for all their hard work for the annual Grand Civil War Ball, held in April at the Century Club. Each year we host a growing group of dancers for the Saturday ball and Sunday brunch, and John & Jenn are instrumental in bringing in participants, spreading the word, and setting up. Thanks for all that you do!

about forty women living on Dimmick Street complained of the dust kicked up by the trucks. Tolerico tried to appease the women by putting calcium on the road. That didn't work and dust continued to fill the air and dirty the daily wash that was put outside to dry. After their complaints went unanswered, the forty women came up with a plan. They started going through their basements, back yards and attics, gathering whatever items they could find. Old Christmas trees, boxes, crates, and old water pails were among items that were found. "Operation Stop the Trucks" had begun. The women took all of the items they found and piled it in the middle of Dimmick Street.

A few minutes after the barricade was built, the first truck came into view. The truck's driver could not believe his eyes. The women started yelling and the truck came to a halt. Minutes later, a second truck came along and also stopped. The police were summoned and Patrolemen Michael Mikula and Michael Pabis responded, trying to calm the women. However, they left the barricade in place and went to speak to Tolerico. The theater owner agreed to oil the street immediately if the barricade was removed. The women agreed and all of the items were returned to the places they were originally stored.

The new Circle Drive-In opened on Saturday, September 10, 1949. It took six months to build at a cost of $225,000. The screen measured 50 by 80 feet and was visible from any point on the property. Opening night show times were set at eight and ten o'clock. The opening night feature was "Ali Baba and the Forty Thieves" in Technicolor. Al Frangel was appointed theatre general manager.

A full page ad in the Scranton Tribune on September 9th heralded the new drive-in opening. The theatre would feature two shows nightly, rain or shine, including in the winter. Children under twelve years old would be admitted free. The theatre, besides having a huge refreshment stand and modern rest rooms, offered a bottle warming service for baby bottles as well as a free diaper service, providing baby diapers if needed. They advertised that children and shut-ins should be brought also.

The Circle Drive In remains open today. While some things have remained the same, such as room for a thousand cars, other things have changed. Gone are speakers attached to posts that you would have to bring inside the car to listen to the movie. Audio is broadcast on FM radio frequencies that can be tuned in your car. In the 1970's, a weekly flea market began every Sunday. On July 3, 2015, the theatre opened a second screen on the property for a larger selection of movies. The theatre also offers other features, such as a Halloween "Circle of Screams" feature, special nights featuring old movies as well as live sporting events shown on the big screen.

Docudrama = Drama with Documents

by Ella Rayburn

Eventually all projects get tackled. For seven or eight decades records of the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western Railroad's coal mine operations were stored in the third floor, back attic of the Catlin House. There are three sets of records: mine employees payroll records, invoices and bills, and correspondence.

All have been in the attic suffering from rapid shifts in temperature - hot and humid in the summer, cold and dry in the winter, and always dirty. It has long been a desire to improve the storage conditions of these important records and allow research access. This dual goal moved forward when the recent capital project improved the heating system, added air cooling and humidity controls. The electrical system also was upgraded. The huge boiler was removed, creating a large open room in the Catlin House basement perfect for housing the massive documents. LHS volunteer Mark Kiefer built a set of heavy duty shelving of threequarter inch plywood and 2 x 4s.

Moving out of the attic

During the time we were discussing the daunting task of moving the records, youth group leaders from Parker Hill Church contacted the Society seeking a service project for February 27th. A dozen high school boys showed up and spent four hours moving the employee records from the low-roofed back attic down four flights to the far end of the basement. The guys enjoyed the workout, commenting how carrying the books would improve their biceps. The invoice books and correspondence will be moved later.

Just looking at the mass of records reveals the growth of the mining industry. Across the top of each page, which is one record, is written the name of the colliery, followed by the header DL&W RR Coal Dept. -- Expenses. With minor variations, each page represents one month at one colliery. The employee's name is listed along with his position, pay rate, time worked, deductions, and total pay for the month. Every job, inside and outside the active breaker, is covered. Each book is made up of the loose leaf pages with 1/4 inch pressed paper boards on top and bottom and strapped together with heavy textile webbing. The length is 17 inches and width is 15 inches. There is no spine.

The earliest record is for the year 1857. The whole year is contained in one ledger measuring 1 ½ inches high. The Scranton area population in 1860 was 14,002. As the 19th century moved forward, the volumes grew larger as more mines opened and more men went into the dark earth. The height of the volumes parallels the explosion of employment and growth in Lackawanna County. The last month on hand is October 1903 and it is 5 inches high just for the one month. The population in 1900 was reported at 102,026, making Scranton the third largest city in Pennsylvania.

The next steps will be to document the employment ledgers

 $The\ records' new\ home$ and put them into a retrievable order. It will take several months but the outcome will be valuable.
